

Project Pictures

Market sellers are taking advantage of the evening sales

Children are studying in the evening

The clinic nurse can examine the pregnant women and the sick even in the night hours

The entrepreneurs place the panels on the frame in the morning, and take them inside in the evening for safety

A meeting with solar charging station entrepreneurs and area leaders

A community meeting – the Project's area leaders and the traditional leaders are promoting clean energy, tree planting, literacy training and other topics

The solar charging station entrepreneur is checking his lamps

Empowering women's rights through training

Small scale business entrepreneurs, many of whom are women, learned about making business plans and calculating their profit

Venkata Swathi, a technician from TERI, the Indian project partner – training the project leader Eracel Monteiro, and entrepreneurs on how to maintain and repair the rechargeable solar lamps

Sign posts in all villages with solar charging stations indicate EU as the main funder of the project

People can get their telephones charged without traveling far

A barber's shop has now reached the village, powered by solar energy

During the final evaluation, making an interview with a solar charging station entrepreneur